L'aménagement du territoire joue un rôle important dans le renforcement des relations intersectorielles mais la diversité de l'environnement des valeurs culturelles et des caractéristiques nationales et ethniques est un atout majeur en Europe qu'il convient de préserver et de mettre en valeur. Dans le contexte de la mondialisation, il est tout aussi important de réduire les disparités entre pays, régions et communes d'Europe en matière de qualité de vie, de perspectives économiques, de prospérité et de niveau de développement. La question de l'accès aux services essentiels (accès à l'eau potable, assainissement des eaux usées, collecte et traitement des déchets, transport public, construction durable) dans ce contexte prend ici toute son importance.

La coopération décentralisée entre les collectivités territoriales françaises et leurs homologues étrangers permet de réaliser des actions de développement local face à la multiplication des actions. La législation autorise désormais les collectivités territoriales françaises à mener des actions avec leurs homologues étrangers dans le cadre d'un organisme de coopération si une création rationnelle et pragmatique des organismes de coopération s'impose aux collectivités territoriales. Les États doivent parallèlement s'engager à harmoniser leurs droits internes.

This edited volume surveys how current local governance policies and development strategies across Africa and the Middle East are advancing sustainable development goals. Morocco's recent experience with local development strategies serves as a starting point for the discussion. Over the past decade, Morocco has undertaken a variety of initiatives aimed at reducing poverty and social inequalities and providing essential services to marginalized communities. These initiatives provide great opportunities to reshape the spatial organization of regions and to address chronic local issues of infrastructure and investment. Local governance is the most direct way of providing basic services to populations, helping to alleviate socio-spatial inequalities. Also, it is and will continue to be the best way to engage people and local governments in economic, social, and human development agendas. However, placing local governance at the heart of development strategies requires going well beyond participatory approaches to policy making. Local communities and their governments need to be empowered. As responses to the COVID-19 epidemic have laid bare, new and more efficient modes of territorial governance are needed at local and regional levels if current global-scale challenges are to be met. While development and governance strategies like Morocco's are framed by global agreements and standards, there is a need to understand them at the regional scale. Are there discernible patterns in how African and Middle Eastern countries design and implement them? This volume assembles case studies from across the region, allowing for understandings that transcend the usual spatial dichotomies between North and Sub-Saharan Africa, between Africa and the Middle East, and between the Anglophone and Francophone spheres. The volume builds upon an international conference on the topic held at Al Akhawayn University in Ifrane, Morocco, in February of 2022. The volume is aimed at a readership of researchers and development practitioners and will be of most direct benefit to advanced undergraduate and graduate level students
